Agriculture

There is not any country in the world, which inhabitants are not involved in agriculture. Development of agriculture is one of the priority directions of economy for the Republic

Favorable climate conditions, skills of our hard-working Uzbek people will promote the successful solution of huge tasks that the agriculture of our Republic is facing today. Due to natural and climate conditions of the Uzbekistan the development of various branches of its agriculture and cotton growing primarily are based on irrigation.

Cotton growing, alongside with rice growing gardening, grape growing, silk warm breeding, cattle breeding, vegetable and melon growing and others, is the leading branch of agricultural production in the Republic and all this provides the most effective use of natural and climate environment, the accumulated production skills the experience of people and the created means of production.

Cotton threads, yarn and fabric serve for the production of important items of the chemical industry. Cotton oil is made of cotton-seed and serves as an important raw material in oil press industry

On the basis of cotton growing and the its affiliated branches of agriculture the following branches as mechanical engineering, production of mineral fertilizers, primary processing and reprocessing of agricultural products have developed.

Grain crops, mainly winter and spring wheat, are grown almost everywhere in the Republic.

Social and cultural development

The social sphere is usually regarded as a whole complex of conditions of life activity. It implies a certain system of material and spiritual welfare guaranteed by the government. The system reflects the priorities of the state policy in the field of education, health care, pensions, development of housing and municipal economy, art, culture and sport.

The Government of Uzbekistan
paid rapt attention to the social sphere from the first day of its independence.

On April 14, 1999 at the 14 th session of the Oliy Majlis of the Republic of Uzbekistan, Islam Karimov made his speech in which he defined the strategy in the development of Uzbekistan and pointed out the following priorities.

Islam Karimov said:
“All of us should realize that on spiritual revival of the nation preservation of traditions, development of culture and art, science and education depends on the situation in other spheres and how productive are reforms that we are conducting.”

Educational establishments of a new type, such as professional colleges, lyceums, business schools and academic lyceums are intensively being created.

All mentioned above makes family one of the highest moral values of the state. That is why our State pays such a great attention to family life and protects it.

Uzbekistan and the world

Every nation and state dreams of winning adequate recognition of world community. Uzbekistan has already become a full and equal member in this community and steadily moves along its own way of political and social-economic development.

Uzbekistan. Our country has become the member of the United Nations Organization and other prestigious international organizations.

The list of countries that have signed trade economic relations with Uzbekistan is broadening. By 1998, the Republic had trade relations with 140 countries of the world. Among them are such partners as: the USA, the Republic of Korea, Great Britain, Switzerland, France, Germany, Belgium, Italy, Japan, India, China, Turkey and many others.

Foreigners about Uzbekistan

Since Uzbekistan gained its independence many heads of governments from all parts of the world visited our country to establish and strengthen bilateral and multilateral contracts, improving mutually beneficial cooperation.

Numerous meetings and contacts, on all the levels, from formal to informal ones, contacts with guests and tourists who had visited our sunny land, with representatives of business circles who made up their decisions to be our partners in economic and cultural building in the field of healthcare and sports showed that Uzbekistan with its industrial, scientific and cultural potential, with abundance of natural deposits of minerals and raw materials, in the opinion of the world community, is the country that solves the most difficult problems.

People of different nationalities, religions and professions, who visited our country, share their impressions. They are politicians, businessmen, scientists; cultural workers, ecclesiastics from all the parts of the world.
