Introduction

During 20 years of independence deep structural and substantial reforms and transformation in field of education happened in Uzbekistan. The essence of educational reform in Uzbekistan is to preserve the present intellectual potential of the educational system and to modify our goals and activities in order to develop individuals who are capable to build and live in a democratic civil society and a free market economy. These reforms, however, do not only reflect nationalistic aspiration. Since securing independence, the Uzbekistan nation realized its great responsibility as citizens of the international community and as citizens of our planet.

Therefore, as our president I. A Karimov noticed one of our main goals is to educate a healthy generation, both physically and mentally¹. The main principles of our new educational policy support this endeavor. Our goals are determined as the following: humanistic, democratic methods of teaching and socialization, priority to human values, national and cultural traditions, and the separation of educational institutions from the influence of political parties and social and political movements.

Considering these most important principles and the experiences of developed countries of the world, the Republic of Uzbekistan has recognized its main direction of educational development. They are as follows:

- Modification and further perfection of the education and socialization content
- Development of new school, curricula and textbooks
- Stress on individual ability and talent

- Vocational and Professional development in accordance with changing economical needs
- Integrating Uzbekistan with world educational standards

Accordingly, foreign language teaching is considered to be one of the most important parts of teaching process in our republic. English is spoken by more people than any other language, and is the native language of more than 350 million people. English is the international language of diplomacy, business, science, technology, banking, computing, medicine, aviation, UN & NATO armed forces, engineering, tourism, Hollywood films and arguably the best pop and rock music in the world. Consequently, much work is being done to teach explicit English at all levels of education in Uzbekistan.

However, we can not say that there are enough course books and manuals in English, especially in elementary and beginner's schools.

Given brochure, consisting of materials developing speaking, listening and grammar skills is dedicated to be used in extra- curriculum and facultative lessons.
